

WHO IS SHE?

By Robert Hart

Who is she?

She a woman, for that when its cold out, the sun will still shine around and it doesn't matter what city, state or town.

Who is she?

She's a woman of small size, but great courage, strength and heart.
She can line up politicians and congress men and twist their brains a part.

Who is she?

She is a mother, daughter, aunt, sister and friend, but most of all she's that woman that will stick by your side to the very end.
But don't mistreat her child for that's a big mistake. She'll cut out your heart and let it float in the lake.

Who is she?

She's a woman I met, while taking a walk to the store, a woman I said I need to see more and more. A woman only God could have sent from above. She's the woman I would one day love.

Who is she?

She's Sheiba and she's one of a kind. Why I brag about this woman?
Because she's all mine.
